Best waves since '97 for the Classic they reckoned, big juicy lines pumping around the point all week, Lara, Billy and Aiden shone our Layback light upon the waters, and lo, it was good!

They carved it up, hung tootsies, bounced and sprayed their opposition "mates", a very competitive huuuuuge field (260+ competitors). Lara took out the open ladies (sister Bernie second - a Murphy take down), Billy shone in the Olds as he regularly demonstrates to us, and took it, and Aiden, on the cigar wrap Carabine, put on a very impressive show, those flowing snaps out of the bottom turn, and then out solid on the nose - first class. They did us very proud!

5 foot plus lines all the way down the point. on Thursday and not much smaller on Friday. Even a couple of heat interruptions due to sharks! (I was in one, and everyone was surprisingly cool about it...)

Somehow in the evening, I found myself walking in to the Club and it was full of competitors, and I didn't know anyone! Lots of new friends under the influence of the beers and good vibes!

A magic few days, with a rather quirky finish - on the eve of the presso I was sitting with my old mate Mick on the neck of land that connects the headland, just watching the sunset, and a golf cart cruises past, 3 young men in it, with an esky and golf clubs.

They somehow drive up the steep slope to the top, in this cartoon like car, unload, and sure enough, one of them sets up a tee, on the very top near where the seat is, grabs his big head driver, and proceeds to drive a half doz balls out into the sea!

Pretty special place with special people! Thank you Crescent!

AUGUST 'POINTSORE' Lachy's Lines

I arrived to Bellambi bright and early and not hungover for the first time this year, it doesn't mean that I didn't drink the night before, I was just smarter about it. I was greeted by Mark shaking his head and telling me that the half a foot swell hitting the shallow reef was a set wave and that there was no chance it was going to be on so I quickly ducked around to Easties and was greeted there with less.

A quick phone call to Youngy was made to inform him of the grandeur of disappointment in the surf as the Pointscore was postponed from the week earlier for the same reason.

Back to Bellambi as Youngy put across the idea of breakfast and a catchup to the small group of us there, the decision was unanimous. Bacon and eggs were shared on fresh long rolls/hot dog buns, almost definitely the most deliciously soft buns served on planet earth that day, they went down a treat.

There was a wave breaking though, I ended up surfing for about 5 hours that day, however the dimensions of my board are 10'1/4 x 23 5/8 x 3 5/8 which is just over the 100L mark. To give you an idea most logs would be around the 70L mark. I ended up catching 4379 waves that day and my hair was wet only once... because someone splashed me.

It wasn't a Pointscore, but it was a damn fine morning.

LAYBACKS AT THE U.N.

Glenn Sant gives the Keynote address on the Mythology of Layback, at a United Nations conference in Geneva, earlier this year (note Laybacks sticker on folder)...

Here he tries to clarify why Scotty has difficulty playing with others, why George is still a worthwhile person - despite his SUP, and the audience, as you can see, is rapt....

(UN conservation committee meeting in Geneva, expounding on shark and ray conservation - go Glenn!)
